Course Overview Description

Explore your passion for making a difference in the lives of young people with Tabor's Diploma of Applied Social Sciences. Our program provides a comprehensive and hands-on education that covers a wide range of disciplines related to youth work. You'll learn from experts in sociological and psychological academic disciplines, spiritual traditions, cultural humility, and community services perspectives. Our program emphasises real-world experience, ensuring you develop the practical skills required to succeed as a youth worker.

Professional Outcomes

With a Diploma of Applied Social Science, you'll be ready to make a difference in your community! Graduates will have the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed in entry-level roles in community services and community development contexts. Careers could include support worker, mentor, and project and/or group assistant. But that's not all! The Diploma of Applied Social Sciences is also the perfect fast-tracked qualification to equip you with the competencies to become a chaplain.
